Narratives:
A Four-Part Series
on Zoom

This on-going series on the Criminal Legal System will be facilitated by Susan Gottehrer, Director of the Nassau County Regional Office of the NY Civil Liberties Union. She will guide participants to a more complex, nuanced, and humane understanding of the issues of community safety in the context of police reform, bail reform, sentencing, and parole reform. Each session will situate the topic within the history of the carceral system.

Thursdays, February 9 & 23, and March 9 & 23

7:00 PM – 8:30 PM on Zoom

No charge but registration required at

February 9: “Repeat Offender”: How the 13th Amendment Loophole Continues the Legacy of Slavery

Join us on February 9 for a Criminal Justice Virtual Town Hall, where we’ll provide an overview of the Criminal Legal System, share the history of the carceral system dating back to the 13th Amendment’s abolition of slavery, and open up space for group discussion on what Community Safety means to you. We’ll be joined by Lisa Zucker (rt.), Senior Policy Counsel for the New York Civil Liberties Union, who will share information about the 13th Amendment and today’s carceral system, and what we can do about it.
